2015 OPTIFAST® “New You” Weight Loss Winners Revealed

Dedicated Patients from Illinois, California and Georgia Celebrate Healthy Lifestyle Changes

Florham Park, N.J. (July 29, 2015) — Nestlé Health Science today recognized three extraordinary individuals who succeeded in their journey to healthier, happier lives. The winners of the sixth annual OPTIFAST® “New You” weight loss contest, whose combined weight loss totals approximately 300 pounds*, embody the life-changing power of a commitment to a healthy lifestyle.

The “New You” weight loss contest is designed to recognize OPTIFAST patients for their pursuit of and dedication to long-term weight management. This year’s “New You” weight loss contest winners are living proof that lifestyle changes – mindful eating and physical activity – can help achieve a better quality of life.

“Nearly four decades of clinical research from the Preventive Medicine Research Institute and University of California, San Francisco, proved the benefits of comprehensive diet and lifestyle changes,¹” said Maureen Monahan, General Manager, U.S. OPTIFAST business. “These changes include a well-balanced diet, social and community support and moderate exercise – all of which are key pillars of OPTIFAST’s mission to help individuals achieve long-term health and well-being.”

The 2015 OPTIFAST “New You” weight loss contest patient winners are:

- Emily Clapsaddle from Lombard, IL: Following the birth of her son, Ethan, in 2008, Emily suffered from post-partum depression. In 2012, she tragically delivered a stillborn baby named Elijah Joseph at 19 weeks. Her weight climbed. Moved by her responsibility as a mother to Ethan, Emily turned her life around with the OPTIFAST program in 2013 and has lost 59 pounds on the program*. An emergency department nurse and full-time mom, Emily has more energy than ever. In June, she completed her first women’s “Esprit de She” Triathlon in Naperville, Illinois – a 0.5 mile swim, 13.3 mile bike ride and 3.1 mile run – in 2 hours and 8 minutes. Ethan, now age 7, recently received a cub scout medal for the 100 miles he has walked with his mom over the last year.
- Loran Hollander from San Francisco, CA: A physical therapist for more than a decade, Loran is a strong believer in the link between physical and emotional well-being. Active for as long as she can remember, Loran played soccer and swam competitively in college. When she stepped on the scale in early 2014, she was hit hard with the reality that she had reached an all-time high of 240 pounds. Amidst coping with the loss of her father over the last two years, Loran had lost her true self. Determined to find an evidence-based program that would support long-term weight management and her active lifestyle, Loran chose the OPTIFAST program after careful research and discussion with her doctors. A hundred pounds lighter today*, she has regained her health and feels her own lifestyle is back in line with the information she shares with her patients. With her physical and mental health in harmony once again, Loran is training to hike Mt. Kilimanjaro in Tanzania.
- Tawni Taylor from Atlanta, GA: Less than a year ago, Tawni’s 5’3” frame carried 324 pounds. A walk up three stairs left her breathless. Now 144 pounds lighter*, Tawni exercises regularly. She won’t forget the monumental moment on September 26, 2014 when she chose to make a lifelong commitment to herself and started the OPTIFAST program. As Tawni says, “It takes an OPTIFAST village.” She attributes the success of her ongoing journey – from a size 24/26 to a size 10 – to the endless compassion and support of her medical team and fellow patients, who helped to build back the self-love and care. The OPTIFAST program gave Tawni’s life the structure she needed. At 180 pounds, Tawni is committed to continuous success and is working towards her goal weight of 150 pounds.

In honor of their achievements and dedication to living a healthier lifestyle, the 2015 “New You” weight loss contest winners will celebrate with an all-expense paid trip to New York City this summer. The weekend of rest, relaxation and rejuvenation will include a spa day, makeover and night out on the town with a loved one.
